The Daily Oregonian.

WEDNESDAY MORNING JUNE 30 1875

WE APOLOGIZE

If we had had the remotest idea that the publication of the call for a meeting of the Independent State Central Committee would have such an effect as it has had on the Statesman we should certainly have refused to admit it into the columns of the OREGONIAN We hasten to apologize but to do so we must explain a little No sooner did the OREGONIAN containing the call reach Salem, than the Statesman went into a most frightful paroxysm of rabies We were aware that the Statesman had a malady that sometimes broke out in very ludicrous spasms of "fine writing" but we were hardly prepared for the hydrophobic column of which this is the opening paragraph and a fair specimen of the whole

The OREGONIAN publishes a call for a meeting of the Independent State Central Committee and declares that 'there is a general sentiment in favor of putting an Independent candidate in the field That is flatly false No such sentiment prevails anywhere except immediately around the Corbett-Failing soup kettle in Portland There is not such thing as an Independent party now existing in the State of Oregon and there is not call for any issuing from any other quarter than that of a miserably contemptible little squad of played out politicians and political failures in the city of Portland No sooner does Senator Mitchell return to Portland, than the Lindsley-Corbett and his little band of retainers and swash bucklers hang on the cauldron and recommence cooking their hell broth, with all the grotesque gyrations but with none of the awful circumstances which characterized the witch scene in the tragedy of Macbeth

What could be more ridiculous than the idea that a visit to this State of 'Senator Mitchell," whoever that may be, had anything to do with the issuing of the call for a meeting of the Independent Committee? 'Senator Mitchell's" appearance on the streets of Portland, if there is any such person here, we apprehend is not known to a dozen people unless they have chanced to meet him Nobody mentions his presence, and we suppose has any cause to suppose the weather will be any more or less propitious on account of his being here or that the diurnal revolutions of the earth will cease till he goes away If he is here, it is presumable he is here lawfully and on legitimate business and since he has not, to our knowledge made any attempt to run the Independent party while here we dare say the Independent party will not try to run him away from here The truth is, the Independents of Portland are not so infirm in their nervous systems as to be thrown into a "perturbed state of mind" by the appearance of one carcass more in the Federal bone-yard The Statesman says the "sight of Mitchell's coat-tail" in Portland is what started the call of the Independent committee This is a great mistake That individual—if we rightly guess who is referred to—has shown not only his coat-tail, but also that which is not his coat-tail, on this community so many times that people here are neither startled nor surprised at any exhibition of that sort

We do not attach any importance to the utterances of the Statesman, in its present condition, and if the kind of blowing off in which it is now engaged is a relief to it, we hope it will continue on Indeed, we should not have mentioned the matter at all, had we not felt an apology was due from us to its readers for the part we had unwittingly taken in bringing it to its present alarming state

ARE THE BORDER TROUBLES TO BE SUPPRESSED?

The dispatches we publish this morning toll of further outrages by the Mexican border ruffians upon the Texan frontier How long this thing is to be tolerated without an earnest endeavor to suppress it, no one can conjecture The President takes his pleasure at Long Branch, and the people of Texas, citizens of the United States, are robbed daily and nightly by bands of marauders from a foreign State A sloop of war is ordered to cruise in the Gulf of Mexico about the mouth of the Rio Grande, as if cattle thieves were to be caught and punished at sea, and an insignificant squad of soldiers is told to stand guard somewhere about Brownsville, while herds of robbers cross the border at a dozen different places, despoil the citizens and waste the country Is this the attention public affairs of so grave a character are to receive henceforth? It was never so before the Presidency of these United States became a personal perquisite, and the incumbent of the great office a mere salaried pleasure seeker Any President the Republic ever had before, if placed in the shoes of Grant, would manage to find time from his junketings at the seaside to indite such a note to the Mexican Government as would put a stop to this high handed procedure, or to precipitate a conflict between the two countries But the sound of the cool surf and the clangor of hoofs on the race-course and the cheering as the favorite wins crosses the judges' line—the many noises of the society of silken-winged butterflies in which our President passes his summers—have drowned the cry for justice that comes up from a corner of the nation, and the homes of American citizens are invaded and desolated by foreigners with impunity

MONEY OR RAGS

In Ohio the question is fairly presented to the voters, to be decided in October whether the people prefer money or rags for a legal measure of values The Democracy have adopted a platform in which the main plank is an unqualified demand for more rags, while the Republicans have with equal directness and with encouraging emphasis, declared that money only should be a legal tender for debts, and that the interests of commerce demand a return to hard money at the earliest practicable day The issue is clear and unmistakable, but while the Republicans have the advantage of the sympathy of the sensible people of all parties in the East, it can not be denied that in the West the Republican as well as the Democratic masses are inoculated, to a very considerable extent with the rag money inflation theories that controlled the Ohio Democracy in their convention So it is by no means certain that the loss to either party through the disgust of its own members at its position on this subject will not be made up by the gains it will get from the other party from exactly the same cause

It is interesting to speculate on the probable part which Senator Thurman will take in this campaign in Ohio He is one of the most pronounced opponents of the rag money notions of the Pendletonians Will he now that the latter have been able to commit the party to those heresies, consider his allegiance to party paramount or will he prove as courageous as he is clear headed and throw the weight of his great influence where his judgment and his conscience have already placed him? Neither party has any great margin in Ohio and the question who will win, is likely to hinge on the question whether Thurman will let a lot of political mountebanks and financial quacks force him to stultify himself

It seems the newly discovered evidence on which the application to reopen the Tilton Beecher case was made has exploded with a report and a concussion that is likely to have serious consequences to more people than Loeder and Price the new witnesses Price turns round and exposes himself and his co partners and there is a sensation that threatens to be greater before it is less

MEETING OF THE INDEPENDENT STATE CENTRAL COMMITTEE

The members of the Independent State Central Committee are requested to meet at Portland on Friday July 1st 1875 at 10 o'clock in the afternoon to arrange for a Convention to nominate a candidate for member of Congress and for the transaction of such other business as may properly come before the committee

A CRUEL TRICK —An eastern exchange tells the following story which we pronounce a base slander on the pedagogue mentioned The girls in a seminary out in Portland got wanted to break an old professor of the institution of a bad habit When a class had went to him with a question, he put his hand in the attitude of blessing his head and then laid it lovingly on her shoulder and talked to her like a father If he suspected any partiality for any one it was expressed by the weight of his hand and the length of his fingers among her locks Some of the girls became annoyed at the habit, and would probably not have taken such a universal dislike to it if the professor had been a younger man As it was, they entered into a conspiracy to reform him They made a pincushion and in its peculiar mechanism of pins were inserted point up plenty of pins were inserted point up The infernal machine being perfected, a victim was selected to try it on The pincushion was placed on the top of her head, and the lady was dismissed the sentence. She had never been heavy on the head. He was serious to make a point and he did it secured to take the hint so far as that part of the favorite girl went. The infernal machine was movable, and fitted every head that was presented over a question Two or three experiments of this kind and the professor's bad habit was completely cured. There may have been nothing wrong in it, but it was well to stop it right there

THE TRULLINGER BRAKE.—Mr Joseph Trullinger of Centerville, Washington county has invented a brake which, unless we are mistaken is destined to supersede the brake in use for wagons, and cars. It consists of a heavy metallic band or collar around the hub of the wagon—or the axle, in case of railroad cars—with a concave or convex outer surface upon which the brake piece bears when the brake is on This piece is another ring with its inner surface convex or concave, as the case may be, to fit the outer surface of the collar This outer ring has a hinge along one side and on the opposite side it is open, the two parts connecting not with each other, but with a screw so adjusted that by moving it the inner ring or brake piece closes on the collar with as much friction as can be secured by any form of brake In fact with much less motion than is required for the brake in common use on wagons the wheel can be brought to a dead lock This invention is as well applied to locomotives and railway cars, as to wagons, and will prove a great saving in repairs of the principal sources of loss in that matter is the damage to car wheels by the friction of the brake directly on the periphery Competent engineers have examined the Trullinger brake and have expressed themselves entirely satisfied of its superiority to all other brakes in use and we saw it operated in the yes erday on a farm wagon when it appeared quite equal to all that was demanded of it The inventor informs us that he has letters patent for the invention, that he has already been granted for the invention in all the States and Territories of the United States

WOMAN'S INDEPENDENT PICNIC —The Women's Independent Suffragists are to have a picnic at the Island picnic ground, July 5th, at which they and place they propose to discuss the question that taxation without representation is tyranny The committee of arrangements have selected William Elliot, of Conemaugh, marshal; Rev. J L Parrish, of Salem, as orator Thomas Lanham, Mrs. Duniway as orator Thomas Lanham as reader of the Declaration of Independence, Mrs. Coburn as reader of woman's declaration of independence, and C P Riley, of Portland, as reader for the colored people's emancipation proclamation Everyone is invited to go to the picnic and to take along

WEDNESDAY MORNING, JUNE 30, 1875.

CITY.

A CRUEL TRICK.—An eastern exchange tells the following story, which we pronounce a base slander on the pedagogue mentioned: The girls in a seminary out in Portland, Oregon, wanted to break an old professor of their institution of a bad habit. When a young lady went to him with a question, he put up his hand in the attitude of blessing her dear soul, and then laid it lovingly on her head, and talked to her like a father. If he showed any partiality for any one it was expressed in the weight of his hand and the lingering of his fingers among her locks. Some of the girls became annoyed at the habit. They would probably not have taken such a decided dislike to it if the professor had been a younger man. As it was, they entered into a conspiracy to reform him. They made a sort of pin-cushion, and in its peculiar mechanism plenty of pins were inserted point upward. The infernal machine being perfected, a young lady was selected to try it on. The pin-cushion was placed on the top of her head, and ostensibly covered with curls and tresses, so as to fall the point of the joke. She went up to the professor and demurely inquired whether Washington crossed the Delaware on the ice or on horseback, and when he evaded and Trenton? The professor raised his hand and soothingly said, "Why, my dear child—" He never finished the sentence. His hand had been heavy on the head. He was anxious to make a point and he did it. He seemed to take the hint so far as that particular favorite girl went. The infernal machine was movable, and fitted every head that was pounded over a question. Two or three experiments of this kind and the professor's bad luck was completely cured. There may have been nothing wrong in it, but it was just as well to stop it right there."

THE TALLINGER BRAKE.—Mr. John C. Tallinger of Centerville, Washington county, has invented a brake which, unless we mistake, is destined to supersede the brakes now in use for wagons, and cars. It consists of a heavy metallic band or collar around the hub of the wagon—or the axle, in case of railway cars—with a concave or convex outer surface, on which the brake piece bears when the brake is on. This piece is another ring, with a similar convex or concave, as the case may be, to fit the outer surface of the collar. This outer ring has a hinge at one side, and on the opposite side it is open, the two ends connecting not with each other, but with screws adjusted that by moving it the outer ring or brake-piece closes on the collar, and causes as much friction as can be secured without any form of brake. In fact with much less friction than is required for the brake in common use on wagons, the wheel can be brought to a dead lock. This invention is as easily applied to locomotives and railway cars, as to wagons, and will prove a great saving in rolling stock, as one of the principal sources of loss in that matter is the damage to car wheels by the friction of the brake directly on the periphery. Competent engineers have determined the Tallinger brake, and have expressed themselves entirely satisfied of its superiority to all other brakes in use, and we saw it operated in this city yesterday on a farm wagon when it appeared quite equal to all that was demanded of it. The inventor informs us that he has had one in use on his wagon ever since last October, and it has proved a perfect success. A patent has already been granted for the invention.

WOMAN'S INDEPENDENT PICNIC.—The Womanites are to have a picnic at the Rock Island picnic ground, July 5th, at which time subjects they propose to discuss the proposition that taxation without representation is tyranny. The committee of arrangements have selected William Elliot, of Canemah, as chairman; Rev. J. L. Parrish, of Salem, as chaplain; Mrs. Duniway as orator; Thomas Buckman as reader of the Declaration of Independence; Mrs. Coburn as reader of woman's declaration of independence; and George F. Riley, of Portland, as reader of colored people's emancipation proclamation. Everyone is invited to go to this picnic, and to take along a basket of something nice to make the entertainment a success. The exercises, it is expected, will be varied with patriotic songs. The trains and boats land people at Parrot's bridge in the morning and take them away in the afternoon.

DIED.—Yesterday the remains of Mr. J. Cofer, who died on Monday, were buried in the Fir cemetery. Deceased was in very feeble circumstances at the time of his death, but a number of charitably disposed persons kindly took the matter in hand and raised sufficient funds to give the body a respectable burial. The funeral was largely attended. A wife and one child survive the husband and father. Mrs. Cofer, we learn, is very anxious to return to her friends and relations in Iowa. As she has no means at all, the Ladies' Relief Society have undertaken to raise a sufficient sum of money to send her East.

SCATTERED OUT.—As there is to be no celebration in Portland on either the 3d or 5th of July, a number of the prominent musicians of this place will leave the city for various points to furnish music for balls. Professors Kay and Parrott will go to The Dalles on Monday to attend the ball given there on the evening of that day. Professors Kay and Cass will visit Astoria on the same day for a similar purpose, and Mr. C. Parrish will attend a grand ball which is to be given at Aurora on Monday evening, to call figures.

CONSCIENCE STRICKEN.—In the late Eastern mail was a letter addressed to the postmaster at which was enclosed a three-cent stamp with the writer (name not given) stated was payment of one cent due on an advertised letter delivered to him at the office nine years ago—then in charge of another official—for which credit was given. He couldn't stand it any longer, and accordingly remits, as above, to liquidate the indebtedness. Will wonders never cease?

ENTERTAINMENT.—There will be a public entertainment at the Masonic hall Friday evening, at 7:15 o'clock. An admission of 25 cents will be charged, the proceeds of which will be applied toward founding a public school library. Tickets can be had at J. K. Gill & Co.'s, Daniel & Co.'s, and at the hall. Two scholarships will be presented to the graduating class. A library is much needed in the schools, and all friends are requested to contribute to the cause.

WEATHER REPORT.—From the records of the U.S. Signal Station of Observation, Portland, Oregon, June 29, 1875:

	7 A. M.	2 P. M.	9 P. M.
Thermometer	63°	70°	70°

NARROW ESCAPE.—The evening cotemporary says: "A few days ago a gentleman discovered the bridge on L street, at which the ferry-road lands, in East Portland, to be on fire between Third and Fourth streets. The fire was soon extinguished and was found to have been started from a lighted cigar, dropped there by some careless individual."

SHERIFF'S SALE POSTPONED.—Yesterday forenoon was the time set for the sale of all property in the county on which the taxes for 1874 had been paid. For good and valid reasons Sheriff Jeffery has postponed the sale until to-morrow morning. The public generally are requested to bear in mind this fact.

MONEY ORDERS—RATES CHANGED.—On and after July 1st the rates of commission charged on money orders will be as follows: On orders not exceeding $15, 10 cents; over $15 and not exceeding $30, 15 cents; over $30 and not exceeding $40, 20 cents; over $40 and not exceeding $50, 25 cents.

OPINION TO BE ANNOUNCED.—Ernestine Korh vs the Oregon Steamship Company and the Goldsmine. Judge Deady will announce the decision in this case this morning.

SOCIAL EVENTS.

Next Monday evening, July 5th, a grand invitation ball will be given at the Umatilla House, The Dalles, for the benefit of Columbia Hose Company, No. 2. Extensive arrangements have been made by the committee, and a splendid time may be anticipated.

You can get everything in season at the popular Fabre & Co.'s Central Market.

BRIEF NOTES.

Cherry pickers are numerous.

Street car travel is increasing.

These are fine days for picnics.

The Crescents are slow to organize.

Flowers in profusion are blooming.

A number of juveniles visited the hills Sunday for a walk.

The second story of Strowbridge's building is nearly finished.

Summer wearing apparel appears at intervals on the streets.

Miss Mary Gilbert, of Salem, is visiting friends in this city.

It is hoped the ball players will start their match games at once, and continue them.

A number of persons from the country attended Mr. Hammond's Sunday night meetings.

Yesterday afternoon the city alarm bell was elevated to its lofty position at the top of the tower.

Refreshing winds blew yesterday, much to the enjoyment of heated workmen and pedestrians.

The fire hydrant at Tenth and Main streets is leaking considerably. It should be repaired or removed.

Deputy P. M. Chittenden is at his post again after a brief absence in Lane county. "Had a splendid time," is the way he expressed it.

The Regatta club will meet at LaChapelle's boat house this evening at 8 o'clock. All interested in aquatic sports are invited to be present and take part.

Mr. DePrans, of the Palace Music store, has published neat little card books containing the fire alarm stations and the instructions of the chief engineer, and a notice of his place of business.

P. 4's fire bell and the old partially destroyed bell formerly used by the Hook & Ladder Co., have been taken to the shop of Zimmerman & Frazer, where patterns for their resitting are being made.

Birds have commenced a raid on cultivated fruit. On Sunday, flocks of pigeons came into the cherry orchard of Mr. King, in the western part of the city, and were helping themselves to the delicacies. A man with a shot gun was called on to protect the fruit, and succeeded in slaying fourteen of the birds before they yielded the ground.

REPORT OF THE GRAND JURY.

To the honorable, the Circuit Court of the State of Oregon, for Multnomah county: We, the undersigned grand jury, respectfully beg leave to report:

Our attention having been called to the assessor's office, we found that the mode of assessing taxes on real estate in this county, as now practiced, is not in accordance with the statute, and operates very unevenly and unjustly. That other counties do not assess according to law is the reason assigned, and seems to be accepted as sufficient. We would urge the importance of proper laws, and a strict adherence to them.

The county jail seems well kept in all its appointments, but is not as safe as it should be. We therefore repeat the recommendation of the previous grand jury, that the south hall be lined with iron, as well as other parts that may seem necessary to insure safety.

We would also urg the importance of such drainage as will prevent the dampness striking through the basement walls, destroying the health of the inmates.

As regards the condition of the several departments of the court-house we have nothing to say, except that the jury-rooms are decidedly uncomfortable for want of suitable furniture, such as chairs, spittoons, etc., and sufficient help to keep them in order.

In conclusion, we wish to bear our testimony to the efficiency and uniform courtesy of our district attorney.

Respectfully,
J. S. DICKINSON, Foreman,
C. S. SCHENCK,
WM. KERNS,
FRANK HACHENEY,
WM. B. DOBELBOWER,
P. J. MANN,
T. J. ROBINSON.

PORTLAND, June 29, 1875.

AMUSEMENTS.

"Alixe," on the occasion of its second rendition at New Market Theater, last evening, drew a good audience. In no respect was the beautiful play presented in an inferior manner to that of the preceding night. From the time the curtain was rung up until it finally descended on the closing scene, not a flaw or break occurred in the play. Everything passed off in the smoothest manner possible, and the hearty and prolonged plaudits of approval which greeted the most exciting scenes, gave ample proof of the appreciation of the audience. A most attractive bill will be offered this evening, and one which will doubtless afford our theater-goers a rare dramatic treat. "Life's Dream," a beautiful three-act play, followed by Lingard in his wonderful sketches, will constitute the "bill of fare." We hope to see a crowded house. Positively the last appearance of the Lingards will be to-morrow evening. Only two opportunities of seeing these excellent artistes. We advise all to improve the chance.

THE COURTS.

U. S. DISTRICT COURT—DEADY, J.

TUESDAY, June 29, 1875.

United States vs Sundry Goods, et cetera, libelled for forfeiture in Alaska; order extending time for marshal to make returns till July 15, 1875.

State of Oregon vs Lute Kuykendall; not a true bill; defendant discharged and bonds exonerated.

State of Oregon vs same; same proceedings.

State vs Chas. Sutherland; same proceedings.

Grand jury presented one true bill.

Grand jury presented their report, and were discharged from further attendance on the court.

THE STAGE.

The Lingards will appear at Salem on Friday evening. A full house is promised them.

The Rosedale party—Fulfords, Dennis, Gere and others—are now in northern California.

Little Mac, the comical dwarf, who was here a year ago with the minstrels was lying very ill in New York city on the 12th inst.

Says the Figaro: "It is expected that Vivian will soon emerge from his retirement with a protean play written for him by J. H. Leroy."

Francis Nelbur et ux to Caroline Fay; lot 6, block 185, $500.

W. D. Prettyman and wife to S. H. Field, a piece of land containing 12 acres, $1,531 50.

Prof. R. D. Kennedy, of California, who has been lecturing on Human Science in this State, is on his way to British Columbia, where he may expect a warm reception. On his return he will deliver a course of lectures in Portland. Prof. Kennedy is well spoken of by the press of this State and California. The Albany Register says: "Prof. Kennedy, who has been lecturing on phrenology, physiognomy and physiology during the week, is decidedly the peer of any man who has visited this State as a lecturer on human science. He not only understands his subject, but he has the faculty of imparting information to his audience so clearly that none can fail to understand him, and he has no superior as a reader of character."

The railroad war and other events that have occupied the attention of the public for day's past were nothing as compared with the excitement created by BECK & WALDMAN, the well-known Clothiers, who are selling their Summer Stock of Clothing, Men and Boys' wear, at fearfully low prices. Before making a purchase step into their place and see what they can do for you. The stock of furnishing goods at this house is complete.

Harmony Encampment No. 4, O. of R. C. Meets Tuesday Evenings at Good Templars' Hall, corner Third and Alder streets, at 7½ o'clock.

REVIVAL MEETINGS.

The bells for the morning meeting sounded at the usual hour, and by ones and twos, in squads and detachments, the people began to file in and assume their respective place and station. Rev. Mr. Smith opened with prayer, songs and prayer following for about fifteen minutes. Mr. Hammond then read from the 2d and 4th chapter of Acts, interspersed with exhortations and advice, when the meeting was thrown open to all. The Rev. John Thompson was the first to fall into line, and proceeded to relate an incident that occurred in Ohio. He said that a company of men had been in the habit of assembling under a large oak tree and holding service in imitation of that of the Methodist Church. They had their preacher, class leader and deacons. They held regular meetings and went so far as to determine to go through with the mockery of administering the holy communion. They made their preparations, and for the sacramental wine procured a barrel of whisky. The day of consecration came fair and pleasant. No clouds were in sight. The deacon was on hand; all the preparations were made; when a cloud suddenly arose. There was a single flash and a report, and all was clear again. When the revilers of religion came upon the ground to hold their mock services, they found the oak tree riven in twain, the whisky destroyed, and their deacon disfigured and dead. Fear and consternation seized upon them. They rushed to the village, and with remorse of conscience said that they had been mocking religion and the services of the Methodist church, and that retribution had suddenly overtaken them. They immediately sent for a minister, and, in fear and trembling, confessed their sins, and, repenting of their evil deeds, were soundly converted, and to-day they are one of the most flourishing church organizations in the State of Ohio. Four hundred and thirty-one were reported as having signed the covenant. The meeting lasted upwards of two hours, and during the whole time the interest never flagged. Last evening, at the Rink, the children gathered in large numbers at an early hour and spent an hour in singing and listening to remarks and stories. Mr. Hammond gave to the children upwards of one hundred volumes of books adapted to them and intended to help them on in the new life. After this, Rev. Mr. Thompson spoke at length to the adults, and was followed by Mr. Hammond, who said there were three agents at work in these revival meetings, viz., God, man and the devil. He spoke about ten minutes to Christians and ten minutes to sinners, when the meeting was changed to one of inquiry. Mr. Hammond will preach his farewell sermon on Thursday evening, and on Friday evening will hold a grand jubilee. The services to-day will be the same as heretofore—morning praise meeting and evening services at the Rink.

TO THE READERS OF THE OREGONIAN.

Friends: I have personal knowledge of many men who have been changed from profane and wicked men to upright, conscientious and Christian men through the influence of Mr. Hammond. I have known moral men and women who became so changed that they became zealous and persistent followers of their Master through his teachings. Among our intellectual people here, a wrong impression prevails concerning him. His warmth of heart and catholicity of mind should commend him to every careful, candid thinker. I have reason to thank the Lord with all my heart that he has led at least two of the dearest of those I love to that large place that makes men glad. He leads no man away from the church of his love, but to it. If he is a Catholic, he may come to a warmer love of a Saviour; if a Protestant he may learn from him something fresh and true. So come and hear him and see if his graphic teaching will not lead you to think more of the Lord Jesus Christ, whom you profess to follow. Your coming may bring many another who really needs a change. Aching, heavy hearts are hanging upon his words. His stories always fix forever some important truth. Do not fight against him, lest you fight against his God and God's truth. Come to the rink to-night and see. Sincerely yours,

O. O. HOWARD.

P. S.—I joined in asking my friend Mr. Hammond to come. Give him the hand of kindness and come out and hear what he has to say. It cannot hurt you. O. O. H.

CAMP MEETING AT ROBERTS' BRIDGE.

TANGENT, June 28, 1875.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

The camp meeting at Roberts' bridge ground on Sunday, June 27th, was of more than ordinary interest. In consequence of the impression that Rev. E. P. Hammond would be present, a great many persons went who seldom find it convenient to attend worship, unless there is something unusual to attract their attention. Notwithstanding the disappointment, the congregation, consisting of about four thousand souls, were instructed and interested by the Rev. Bishop Peck, who preached an able discourse, taking for his text the first chapter of 1st Epistle of John, commencing at the 5th verse. All were well pleased.

Elder Driver, of Salem, preached at 3 P. M. These sermons were listened to with uncommon interest. The speaker's efforts were crowned with gratifying success.

The citizens of Albany and Tangent were favored with half-fare tickets on an extra train, conducted by the very accommodating as well as invincible Stroud. T. J. R.

Big Bonanza's are all very well in their way, but that popular dealer in Clothing, JOS. KOHN, opposite the National Bank, is content to serve his many patrons and the public in general with the very latest goods in his line, and to give the purchaser the benefit of low prices during the dull times. His stock of Clothing, Furnishing Goods, etc., was bought at one complete. You will never regret your purchases at Kohn's. Call to-day.

Health is Capital.

Who can doubt it? Do we not every day see the vigorous and clear-headed pushing on to fortune, and the feeble and brain-befogged tarrying by the way? Health gives energy, viz.: What a healthy mind conceives, a healthy body is prompt to execute. Difficulties which deter the invalid altogether, the vigorous man surmounts at a bound. If we would be successful, let us first be healthy. The initial step to be taken toward arriving at that condition, is to rally the failing energies of the system, as a remnant of decaying vital power. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters may be justly recommended in preference to all other tonics, since its superiority as an invigorant is the subject of daily demonstration. But it is far more than a simple recuperant of physical strength; it is a prompt remedy for bodily irregularities, particularly of the stomach, bowels and liver, and a reliable preventive of maladies begotten of miasma, impure water, exposure and exhaustion, the bad effects of which it invariably counteracts.

SAN FRANCISCO LETTER.

A young gentleman who, until recently, resided in Portland, drops us the following lines from San Francisco, under date of 22d:

"Thinking a few lines of news and gossip from an Oregonian and well-wisher for the future welfare of Oregon, would be of interest, I take this liberty of writing to you. Business here in its various branches, as a general thing, is quite brisk, especially on California street, where almost every one is after a bonanza. Every day, on California street, between Montgomery and Sansome, is a perfect jam, from morn till night. It is really amusing to see how some men get excited in the buying and selling of stocks. Next in importance in the speculating line is property, which is still held at fancy figures, in the most choice parts of the city. In the business portion, every available space is occupied by some branch of trade. Many fine and substantial improvements are in course of construction, and completion. Residences in all parts of the city are being erected. One great convenience to those of limited means, are residences built in all parts of the city by homestead associations, which find ready sale, on the following plan, one-fourth cash down and the rest on monthly instalments, at the usual rate of paying rent until the full amount is paid.

Next comes the Palace Hotel, which is indeed a palace, being very large, and every room a front room with a bay window to each; also a fire escape. You can judge of the size when I say it is seven stories high, and would cover almost two blocks of the size of those in Portland. It will not be open to guests for some time yet, although it is all finished and under cover, as far as the building is concerned, and only requires to be furnished.

Of theaters, there are two being built, one almost finished, situated on Mission street, near Third. I do not know who the owner is, but I believe it is being built by a stock company. The other is just started, situated on Market and Powell streets, which is being built by Thomas Maguire, the great theater manager, he now being the owner of two theaters on Bush street, between Montgomery and Kearny. There are also one or two public schools being erected, besides many stores in various parts of the city.

One thing I would like to call your attention to is the style of pavement used here for paving the streets, knowing that you contemplate improving your streets in Portland. I think it is cheap and I know it is substantial. It is nothing more nor less than granite rock cut about the same size as the block pavement and laid on the same plan, but only sand and gravel being used.

Business in the retail stores at present is slack, owing to the fact that most mothers, at least those that are able, take advantage of the school vacation and with their children go to the various summer resorts—either to the seaside, springs or in the country. As a general thing the stores do pretty well, but in some branches they run one another in prices rather lively. In the wholesale trade they are busy ordering and receiving their stock for this fall's trade. They have very nice stores here, but none come up to the Portland wholesale stores.

Amusements here are going on in full blast every theater being crowded both at evening and day performances. A bit of news in this line is that the great lectures, Anna Dickinson, is shortly going to make her debut here on the stage.

OREGONIANS.

Of these there are many here—over one hundred and fifty to my knowledge. They are partly mechanics; also many are here to reside with their families. Of these, I will name Mr. Milwain, Q. Voss, Thomas Johnson, I. S. Rosenbaum, Mr. Lancaster, Mr. Thurman, Rosenheim and others. Of the young men here there are Johnny Burrell, Sol Frohman, Dr. Raffety, of East Portland, Julius Goldsmith, Percy Pease, Samuel Beck, Frank Nicholson, R. R. Anderson, Harry Chapman, Billy Martin, Harry Richmond, W. H. Cotton and others. I. S. Rosenbaum has opened a cigar manufactory here. Ed. Wicks is in a saloon; Thos. Johnson is working at his trade and resides in Alameda; Johnny Harned has a case at the Chronicle; Percy Pease has been sick but is out again; Julius Goldsmith has a place in a wholesale house; Samuel Beck goes to work after the Fourth; Harry Chapman has gone to Los Angeles where he has found employment. R. R. Anderson, the last time I saw him was the day before Decoration Day. He had his breast decorated with his various badges, and in his hand he had his drum major stick. He was looking for the Grand Army headquarters to see if he couldn't turn out as drum major, but I haven't the least doubt but what he was turned out.

Jack Sheppard is working faithfully for the future of Oregon; he is always around amongst the emigrants trying to induce them to go to Oregon, and I think he succeeds first-rate. But, in conclusion, I would advise all those intending coming down here to seek employment that they had better stay at home in Oregon, for full one-half are seeking work, and it is expensive living here. There are many young men here from Portland, that would like to go back if they could, and many have gone back. It is very hard for a stranger to get work here. I see by the Portland dailies that the printers had a successful picnic.

At the GREAT EASTERN CLOTHING STORE they are offering the finest clothing to be found in the city, at prices that defy competition. There you can select from the latest styles which are laid in upon the arrival of every steamer from San Francisco. A full line of Furnishing Goods, Youths' Suits, Valises and Trunks constantly on hand. Observe the sign, "Great Eastern Clothing Store," W. HARRIS, Proprietor, 125 First street.

A Linn county woman celebrated her 72d birth by by playing the violin for her daughter to dance

Independence will soon have another roaring big warehouse built by the Grangers for their own use

A young man at Albany asked his girl for a lock of her hair She answered "It costs money hair does"

Time for holding the M T South camp meeting at Dixie has been changed from June 24th to July 8th, and will embrace the second Sunday

A thousand head of cattle are now being ranched near La Grande They will be joined by another band of 500 and all will then be driven to Nevada

A man named John Dougherty, and another named Kelly, were arrested at Salem last Monday and held to answer a charge of giving or selling liquor to Indians.

A methodist camp-meeting will be held near Dixie, and within a short distance of the camp ground of the Christian church Preaching will commence Thursday and continue for several days

A party riding down from Independence to Dixie last Sunday, was overturned while running a race, and several persons were more or less bruised. The reports were that one man was killed and two women badly hurt, but it turned out finally that no serious injuries resulted

Miss Ella Witten and Miss Sarah Price of Salem, who was visiting her, left Wheatland last Sunday morning on horseback to attend the camp-meeting at Dixie. On the road the saddle slipped on Miss Witten's horse and she fell off receiving severe injuries. She was taken home in a carriage

The Coos Bay News says "The Poet of the Sierras," Joaquin Miller, has returned from Europe, and is now in Boston We may expect soon to hear of his arrival on the Pacific coast. His wife, Mrs Minnie Myrtle Miller is now residing with her mother at Port Orford She is quite an acquisition to the society of that place"

A few weeks since it was apprehended that the crops especially in the neighborhood of Weston—would prove a failure. These fears arose from the fact that the growing crops had every appearance of the "blight." The late rains have removed all apprehension on this score and now the grain fields near Weston and indeed, in all parts of the valley around look splendid, and promise an immense yield

The Itemizer says "Prospects for abundant crops in Polk county are good. Land in every section has been put under a better state of cultivation, thousands of acres that have lain idle heretofore are now under cultivation and the cereals are looking as well as in any season past. With the present outlook for grass there will be an abundance of cow stock distributed in Polk county this fall Lands is appreciating in value, several farms have changed hands in this vicinity lately at from $25 to $35 per acre"

Mr L. O. Kimsey, who lives seven miles east of Salem, in the Waldo hills, shows the Record specimens of flax raised by him that was sown on hill land the 4th of May, and he has other flax sown on the 15th. The first averages nearly thirty inches high and is not yet in bloom, the last field is fifteen inches high and growing finely It is certain that each will make good growth and yield a good crop The point he makes, which is a good one, is that a farmer can finish his sowing of wheat and oats and afterward can make a good crop of flax which can be sown later than oats and yet produce a sure return.

Sunday a young man named Clark Lawrence induced a boat load of eight other young men, and started from Salem for the camp-meeting at Dixie When near the ground the hack was overturned and smashed up badly Frank Miller, a young man from South Salem, and whose family is recently from Idaho, had an arm broken between the wrist and elbow A young man, familiarly known in Salem as "Toot" Nichols received severe injuries in the back and hips Lawrence, the driver had his face badly bruised, young Chambers had his foot bruised and ankle badly sprained and the soles torn off a new boot, all the occupants of the hack were more or less injured, and the Record says it is safe to say that they owe all their bad luck to the presence of the whisky bottles

The Union, of Walla Walla, tells the following "A case of pistols and jack knife came off on the Walla Walla river, over in Umatilla county some days ago, between a man by the name of Cox and one by the name of Grooms, both men living in that harmonious settlement known as Rebel Canyon" It seems that hard feelings had existed between the two men for some time and that they had been to this city on the day in question Afterwards Cox started home in his wagon, and was overtaken by Grooms, who was on horseback They then got to talking over their difficulties, and Grooms wanted to know if Cox had ever accused him of stealing cattle. Cox declined to answer at first, but upon being pressed for a direct answer, said "Yes—that he had seen Grooms steal cattle" Strange as it may seem, Grooms got angry at this and pulled out his pistol and fired at Cox At this Cox seemed to get angry, so he jumped out of his wagon rushed at Grooms, pulled him off his horse and proceeded to stab and slash him up in a fearful manner, with his little jack-knife Although Grooms fired two or three shots at close range, Cox was unharmed, and while Grooms is much the more powerful he was very severely wounded

A PLACE FOR RUSTICATION

FOREST GROVE June 17, 1875

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

Perhaps almost every farmer in the Wallamet valley, besides the majority of pleasure seekers in the cities and towns of Oregon, have heard of the great Nestucket fishing and hunting region, but have given it little or no attention since the summer of 1867, when the fire swept away a great portion of the dead forest and all the underbrush Since then the wild huckleberry bushes have sprung up and covered the wholesale fire The largest huckberry patch in the State of Oregon is situated on either side of the Nestucket river. On the north bank it is from three to four miles wide and the south and west termination is yet to be explored About three or four miles to the north a large green forest sets in, with large and beautiful trees and little or no under growth. It is here where the wild elk and deer run in bands more numerous than any other place in the coast range of mountains which makes this place one of the best hunting grounds between Rogue river and Gray's Harbor Thus I can safely and truly say as I have been engaged in numerous hunting expeditions between those places

The Nestucket river is only twelve miles from North Yamhill There is a good wagon road from North Yamhill to the bank of the Nestucket. R P SMITH

THE BATTLE OF BUNKER HILL RE ENACTED

ALLENTOWN, Pa June 17 1875

A most successful reproduction of the historical scene of the battle of Bunker Hill took place to-day on our fair grounds, under the auspices of the Ladies Centennial Association, of this city and county, with Mrs S B Lewis as president At sunrise this morning a salute of one hundred guns was fired All the business houses and many private residences were decorated with flags and transparencies. The battle commenced at two o'clock and lasted two hours. It was admirably conducted, General Robert McAllister leading the American forces most of whom were the Continental uniform and Col T H Good led the British, who were in full British uniform Twenty-five thousand persons and 1 200 troops participated in the celebration The fair opened on Tuesday and closes to-morrow night, and has been very successful The proceeds to be appropriated to the Centennial fund,

In local circles there is nothing new of a financial character There seems no especial ground of complaint on account of any scarcity in the supply of money in the market but the fault if found at all is in the fact that so little is doing, to give it general circulation in the community The wheat crop of trade and commerce it is but moving slowly just at this time but business men as a rule have done as well in Oregon taking the year round and one year after another as in out of places The most of them realize this and make no complaint because of an occasional dull season

The cause of the late advance in gold it is now claimed was not attributable to the usual contrivances on the part of speculators There appears to have been no combination to effect the result Large holders were anxious to keep down borrowing The coin export has been nearly an average of $ 0 00 000 per week and this heavy drain must surely kept the price up When this drain cease and the July interest begins to come out the market will probably assume a more sedate tone

Wheat Crops and Tonnage

From all parts of this valley whence the great bulk of our wheat exports come we hear nothing inducing us to change the estimates heretofore made of the surplus wheat for export for the year ensuing upon the approaching harvest In no county has the crop suffered any general damage though the recent rains may have slightly injured a few fields of the earliest fall sown and which was far advanced toward maturity But the loss from this cause if any at all will be very trifling and will hardly perceptibly lessen the total yield

The San Francisco Bulletin of June 23d contains full reports from all the principal wheat growing counties of California, and arrives at the following estimates which, from the sources from which they are derived and the reasons given for them we deem quite as reliable as can be made at this time

	Bushels
Yield	2 000 000
Required for home use	7 741 666
Surplus for export	14 258 334

If we add to this 5,000 000 bushels that being the estimate for Oregon we will have from the coast a grand total for export of 19½ million bushels equivalent to 577,500 short tons requiring 300 000 tons of registered tonnage to carry it away Of this tonnage the estimate is that one fourth is already in the port of San Francisco, and all the remainder either loading for or on the way to San Francisco or other ports on the coast, except ten or twelve thousand tons. The paper above named says

Freights are ruling low and there is every reason to believe that they will continue to do so throughout the coming harvest year Ship owners will of course suffer if we assume that the high freights which have ruled here in previous years afforded them only a fair remuneration It is probable that such was the case but vessels coming to San Francisco are now receiving much higher freights than formerly and the earnings of the round trip will be about the same as before Farmers lose will, however gain considerably by the change in the situation even though the wheat market should continue depressed.

Through freights are now ruling very low yet but very few charters comparatively have been effected so far and it seems to be the determination on the part of exporters and all others to await the full opening of the season before making any settlement of the question as to what shall be the prevailing rates In short almost nothing has been done as far as we can learn in the matter of engaging vessels for this port, and though parties chartering ships are sometimes not inclined to let the fact be known we do not think other one tenth the amount of tonnage necessary to carry the surplus wheat crop of this State are now under charter for our ports, and we have no disengaged tonnage at hand. Enough vessels will probably reach the coast in the course of the year for the trade but they will almost all come seeking, and the arrangements under which they must do the carrying are yet to be made
